Cuba Executes American for 'Plotting'

HAVANA (AP) — A young American adventurer and 12 Cubans were executed today for plotting to overthrow Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The American, first to be executed by the Castro regime, was Anthony Zarba of Somerville, Mass. He went before a firing squad in Santiago with seven Cuban companions. Havana radio stations reported five other Cubans were executed in Santa Clara.

Zarba and his companions had been convicted only hours before by a revolutionary military court of staging a Castro-style invasion to set up a guerrilla front in Cuba. The eight prisoners were led before four different firing squads. Zarba, two at a time. The reports of the first rifles cracked down the San Juan Valley firing range at 4:50 a.m.

Havana radio stations said another firing squad in the provincial capital of Santa Clara, in central Cuba, executed five insurgents captured in the Escambray Mountains. Two were reported to have been rebel leaders.

Radio VO Zin Havana said the firing squads were composed of militiamen. The duty officer at Santa Clara military headquarters said he had no immediate information on executions there, but the government-controlled stations usually are well informed.

Zarba, a 27-year-old adventurer who landed on the northeast coast of Cuba with a small party of leaders last week, was the first U.S. citizen to die before a Castro firing squad. Another American, Alan Robert Nye of Whiting, Ind., was given a death sentence last year for plotting to kill Castro, but the sentence was suspended and he was expelled from the country.

The U.S. embassy appealed to Castro's government Wednesday night for a stay of execution and amnesty for Zarba, but this apparently was ignored.

A five-man military tribunal sentenced Zarba and seven of his Cuban invasion companions to death Wednesday night after convicting them of landing with a 27-man group on the northeast coast of Oriente province last week. A military appeals court quickly rejected defense attorneys' appeals from the death penalty.

The execution site for Zarba and his companions was a firing range in San Juan Valley, in the shadow of San Juan Hill where Theodore Roosevelt and his Rough Riders made their historic charge.

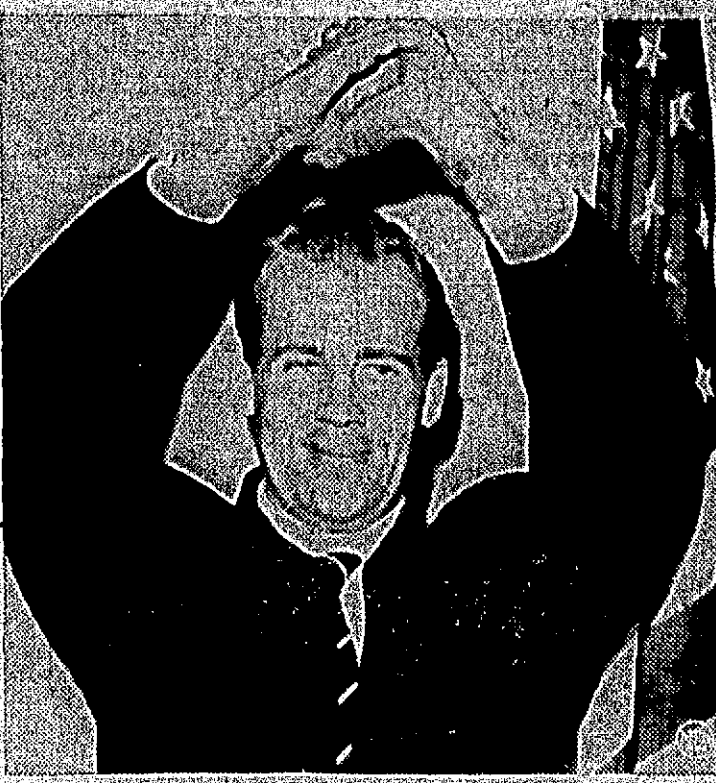

Another American, Richard Pecoraro of Staten Island, N.Y., was reported among 167 defendants in the Santa Clara mass trial sentenced to prison terms ranging from 20 to 30 years. The military tribunal sentenced two women in that trial to 15 years.

The 174 defendants in Santa Clara were captured during a weekend roundup of guerrillas operating against Castro's forces in the Escambray Mountains of south central Cuba.

Catholic youth organizations and women attempted to organize an anti-execution demonstration at one of Santa Clara's churches Wednesday. But a mob of about 500, shouting "pardon" (to the execution wall), blocked the church entrance and dispersed the would-be demonstrators.

Two American newsmen, Robert Borrell of The Associated Press and Wilson Hall of NBC, were detained by army intelligence agents as they watched the execution. They were held about three hours, then released without charges.

Four Soviet newsmen were the only foreign correspondents admitted to the Santa Clara trial. Zarba told the court during his one-day trial here that he was a member of the boat crew that landed the invaders. He said he was sorry he took part and that he tried to leave the expedition in the Bahamas. He said the party sailed from Miami, Fla., where he has a wife and child.

Fifth Body Is Sought in River

POCAHONTAS, Ark. (AP) — Officers searched Current River today for a 16-year-old Indiana boy believed to have drowned along with a 64-year-old man and his three granddaughters.

New dragging operations were started Wednesday night after the youth was reported missing. State Police said Bobby Joe Tollett of Huntington, Ind., left his home in a car driven by A. F. Donaldson, Sr., of Glenwood, Ark. Troopers said the boy's mother, Mrs. Rosa Blake of Huntington, told them the youth intended to visit relatives in Hot Springs.

Donaldson and his three granddaughters drowned when their car plunged off an open bridge into 10 feet of water Tuesday night. Their bodies were found in the Current River.

Donaldson had been visiting a son, Frank Donaldson Jr., in Huntington and was taking the girls to his home for a visit.

The younger Donaldson arrived here Wednesday and only then police said, did he learn that his father had died along with the girls, Barbara, 2, Shirley, 1, and Gracie, 5.

Masive Manhunt in Rugged Ozark Mountains Ends With Capture of Fugitive and Girl

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A massive police hunt in the rugged Ozark Mountains ended Wednesday night when a 24-year-old fugitive and his teen-aged girl friend were captured quietly at a remote farmhouse.

Joe Hilderbrand and 18-year-old Frances Slenderick dropped their loaded rifles without firing a shot when a state trooper surprised them.

Investigator C. W. Tracy said Hilderbrand fell to the ground after throwing down his 30-30 rifle. The girl started to run, then cast aside her .22 caliber rifle and also fell to the ground.

"She almost got shot," Tracy said. "In the dark I couldn't tell whether it was her or Joe."

A loaded .32 caliber automatic also was taken from the girl. Tracy said all the guns were stolen.

"I never intended to shoot anyone," Hilderbrand told Prosecutor George Hartje. He said the guns were for hunting and protection against wild animals.

The couple, tired and haggard and dressed in torn and dirty clothes, was transferred to State Police headquarters at Little Rock later, then lodged in Pulaski County jail here.

Authorities said Hilderbrand would be returned to the state prison farm he left last November for a three-day furlough to visit his ailing father. He took to the hills instead of returning.

The girl will be returned to Pope County. Hartje said charges would be filed against both Hilderbrand and the girl. Hilderbrand admitted the theft of five cars, Hartje said. A state police spokesman said it would take "three investigators and a week's work" to untangle the mass of burglaries and thefts for which Hilderbrand has been blamed.

Dollarway Is Ordered to File New Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Dollarway School Board must come up with a new plan for ending school segregation within 30 days.

U.S. District Court Judge J. Smith Henley set that time limit Wednesday, when he signed an order requiring the new plan.

Henley acted under a decision of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals which ordered the Dollarway Board "to formulate and express a more adequate, objective and definite plan."

That court struck down a plan previously approved by Henley under which the board had said it would tend to assign first grade students according to the wishes of their parents, but that it would not transfer older students. The board also said that integration would not necessarily have to result from use of state pupil placement laws.

The board, however, assigned 6-year-old Delores Jean York, a Negro, to the previously all-white school. She has attended without incident since Sept. 7.

Three Mice Rocketed 700 Miles Into Space, Nose Cone Is Recovered in the Atlantic

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Three mice named Sally, Amy and Moo rocketed 700 miles into space today and the Atlas nose cone they rode in was recovered from the South Atlantic, 6,000 miles away. It was not known immediately whether the mice survived.

The Air Force announced the Atlas successfully delivered the 14-ton cone to an intended impact area north of Ascension Island. The announcement said the ocean range vessel Coastal Crusader fished the cone from the sea.

It reported "the condition of the three mice will not be determined until a representative of the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division and of the School of Aviation Medicine opens the life cell, which contains a stored oxygen system."

The representatives were aboard the recovery ship, but there was no indication how long it would be before they would open the chamber containing the mice.

The black mice made the radiation ride in a miniature model of a man-in-space cabin. The experiment, which took the small travelers into the dangerous Van Allen radiation belt at speeds up to 18,000 miles an hour, was another step toward manned-space travel.

The 12-foot tall cone also carried a group of radiation study instruments.

The Atlas roared away from this test center at 4:35 a.m. (EST). The cone plunked on target 25 minutes later and within 20 minutes was sighted by the Coastal Crusader.

The ship pulled alongside the cone at 6:32 a.m. Skindivers attached cables to the heavy package, which was kept afloat by a balloonlike device that popped out of the cone and inflated. The delicate job of hoisting the cone was completed at 8:08 a.m. The cone was reported in good condition.

Conspiracy Case Goes to the Jury

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — The conspiracy trial of Chancellor Franklin Wilder and two other men went to a Sebastian Circuit Court jury today.

The jury begins deliberations after hearing the judge's instructions and attorneys' arguments.

Circuit Judge Paul Wolfe Wednesday directed a verdict of innocent for J. O. Sellers, a supermarket operator who had been charged along with the other three men with conspiring to induce a minor female to make statements degrading to her name.

The defense did not offer any testimony and rested its case Wednesday soon after Prosecutor Lynna Mikel completed his case. But Wolfe excused the jury until today.

Other defendants are Edgar Ramey, Fort Smith weekly newspaper publisher, and Jimmy Pratt, an employee of Sellers.

The indictments stemmed from the campaign preceding the July 26 Democratic primary, in which Wilder won renomination over Fort Smith Municipal Judge James Langston.

Langston also was indicted, but was found innocent last week of a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor female.

The state, in the current trial, attempted to link Wilder and the others with a statement published in the weekly newspaper.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Youngsters who frequent Dan Guminiski's drive-in snack bar in suburban Sloan don't bite the hand that feeds them—ice cream, candy and soda pop. For eight years Guminiski has passed out the goodies on closing day and Wednesday feted 700 children.

47 Called in 19th District Vote Contest

LONGVIEW, Ark. (AP) — Forty-seven persons were subpoenaed to testify today in a suit contesting the result of the Aug. 9 Democratic primary election in the 19th Senatorial District.

Only 9 of 32 witnesses summoned for Wednesday showed up. Attorneys for Sen. Jerry Sereeton, of Hazen who was the apparent victor, are challenging the validity of some Longview County boxes in reply to a suit filed by J. T. Gunter of Austin, Sereeton's opponent.

Sereeton's lawyers seek to have enough votes disqualified by Judge W. J. Waggoner to make Sereeton the winner.

In an earlier hearing in Prairie County, Gunter's attorneys challenged enough votes to put Gunter apparently ahead.

Waggoner has said he will have grand juries in the two counties investigate apparent vote frauds turned up in the hearing.

Gunter partisans contend that Sereeton forces are trying to drag out the case until past the deadline for changing the names on the Nov. 8 general election ballot. That would mean that Sereeton's name would be on the ballot, since certified returns from the four counties of the district put him ahead.

The Longview Democrat, meanwhile, reported Wednesday that no matter who wins the court suit, a write-in candidate might be put forth as his opponents in the Nov. 8 election.

Stoval to Plead Self Defense

MOUNT IDA, Ark. (AP) — Testimony was to begin today in the first degree murder trial of Bud Stoval, 43, of Sims.

A jury was selected Wednesday after 93 prospective jurors were examined in Montgomery Circuit Court.

The state indicated it would seek the death penalty in connection with the fatal shooting last May 24 of Ed Hulse, 45, also of Sims.

Stoval, who pleaded self defense, said he shot Hulse after the other man threatened him with a .22 caliber rifle during an argument.

Farm Bureau to Help Local Stock Station

The Hempstead County Farm Bureau Board of Directors met at the Diamond Cafe on October 11, with Charles Key, President, presiding.

The board adopted the improved health plan for its members, discussed the hay program, made a donation to help get the new beef cattle experiment station in operation and named voting delegates to the state convention.

Charles W. Key, Farm Bureau Board President, stated that the new benefits will become effective December 1, 1960. He urged that all Farm Bureau members get in touch with their Farm Bureau agent not later than October 31 to get full details of the plan.

Burgess Garrett reported to the group that over 250 tons of alfalfa hay had been shipped into the county from other states. This hay was obtained by the help of Farm Bureau at a cost to the farmers of $34.00 per ton.

The board voted to donate $175.00 to the funds being raised for getting the new beef cattle experiment station into operation. After the new Farm Bureau year starts they will give further consideration to making another donation.

The group elected voting delegates to the state convention as follows: Charles Key, Ned Purdie and Bill Schooley. Alternates to the voting delegates are Warren Butler, Bob Huffman and Richard Arnold. They will attend the Arkansas Farm Bureau convention held in Little Rock on November 20 through 22.

The resolutions committee of N. B. Coleman, Bill Schooley, Fred Clanton, Claude Self, Burgess Garrett, Clifford Russell, Bob Garrett, Warren Butler and John Hawkins was named by the board.

Ned Purdie discussed the minimum wage law and how it will affect farmers of this area. A labor committee composed of Ned Purdie, Fred Clanton and Charles Key was appointed to study proposed labor laws and take any action that they deemed necessary.

Nazarenes Name District Supt.

Mr. Smith was born at Caney in Nevada County, Arkansas and attended high school at Prescott. He holds a master's degree from the University of Oklahoma and took graduate work at the Baptist Theological Seminary in Kansas City for 13 years.

The Hope Church of the Nazarene is included in the district which the Rev. Mr. Smith will head.

All Around Town

By The Star Staff

All Hope students in all grades are taking part in a PTA-sponsored magazine sales project to raise money to purchase laboratory equipment and teaching aid materials and foreign language. All the money raised will be matched by the federal government toward purchasing this badly needed equipment. The schools, students and the PTA solicit cooperation of the public in this fund raising drive.

"In God We Trust" has appeared on U.S. coins since 1861 but did not appear on bills until 93 years later, October 1957, and with the aid of three Arkansasians.

The suggestion to include the motto on paper money was presented to Treasurer George W. Humphrey, by Matthew H. Rohrborn of Camden, Arkansas. Secy. Humphrey favored the idea and in March 1955 bills to this effect were introduced into the Senate by Senator William Fulbright of Arkansas.

Football fans are reminded these undefeated Hope Juniors will tangle with a strong Nashville team tonight at Hannum Stadium.

Khrushchev is expected to participate fully.

The Assembly was delayed Wednesday by a 31-minute Khrushchev rip to the postscript to speak during one of which he called Sen. Lorenzo Sumulong, a Philippine delegate, "this jerk" or "this joker" and a "stogie" or "boot licker."

2. Communist fury that exploded when Sumulong, speaking on the question of colonialism, said the debate should be expanded to include nations of Eastern Europe that have been deprived of their freedom by the Soviets.

3. Repeated and stormy interruptions by Romanian delegate Eduard Mezincescu and Khrushchev on what they called points of order. They used the device to accuse Assembly President Frederick H. Boland of Ireland of partiality toward the West in his rulings.

4. The final climactic moment when Boland, bedecked and glaring, began hanging his gavel and suddenly adjourned the session "in view of the scene we have just witnessed."

Boland wielded the gavel with such force that it broke.

For an instant, the hundreds of delegates sat in startled silence. Then wild applause for Boland swelled through the great hall. It lasted five minutes, reaching the dimensions of an ovation. The Communists did not join in.

All of this arose out of a procedural question—whether to put the Soviet call for a declaration against colonialism before the full Assembly or whether to consider it first in the political committee, the usual U.N. procedure.

Khrushchev balled savagely to get it before the Assembly first.

It appeared that, for the first time in this Assembly session, he was about to have his way. Delegates of a number of nations who had been voting against other Soviet proposals said in speeches they would vote for this one.

There was every evidence that the roll call would go in Khrushchev's favor this time. It was reported that even the United States and Britain, previously opposing an immediate Assembly debate on colonialism, were prepared to go along with the majority. The Communist antics were consequently all the more mystifying.

Mezincescu's last interruption—before Boland broke the gavel in cutting off the session—came after U. S. delegate Francis O. Wilcox said: "Everyone here in this assembly hall is fully aware of the sad fact that there are a number of states in Eastern Europe which do not have complete independence."

At that point the Romanian took his orator on a point of order and denounced Wilcox. Then, as he began a remark about Ireland, Boland threw the switch on the public address system, cut off the sound and began smiling with the gavel.

There was complete pandemonium. Finally, Boland's voice, usually cool and measured but crackling now, said the session was adjourned. It was the most tumultuous session in U.N. history.

Students in Japan March in Streets

TOKYO (AP)—A flag-waving, lantern-carrying crowd of 17,000 students and white-collar workers shuffled through the streets of Tokyo tonight in a massive demonstration of mourning for their assassinated idol, Indiro Asanuma, chairman of the Socialist party.

The 3½-hour parade was generally orderly. There was a spirit of violence when 50 leftist students, members of the Zengakuren association, broke away to storm the gates of Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's official residence.

Shouting abusive language, they threw rocks and used flag-sticks to poke at the 1,000 policemen forming a cordon at the gate. Six policemen were hurt, none seriously.

The demonstration, second since Asanuma was stabbed to death Wednesday, was kept within bounds by police. Its mood appeared to be one of sorrow rather than deep anger.

Ikeda, who was at his private home three miles away, earlier in the day had denounced the use of violence and warned he would act against it whether it came from the right or the left.

Discussions Between the Great Faiths

By JULES LOH

NEW YORK (AP)—Serious advocates of the ever-growing dialogue between the great faiths of America demand one exacting test of the other's sincerity. Conversation, rather than conversion, must be the immediate goal.

Two publishers have passed the test admirably with new offerings which deserve close attention by persons interested in the religious problems of a pluralistic society.

"An American Dialogue" by Robert McAfee Brown and Gustave Weigel, S. J. (Doubleday & Co., Inc.) brings together candid discussions of Protestantism and Catholicism by two brilliant spokesmen for the two religious groups—but not in the usual way.

Father Weigel, a noted Jesuit author, lecturer, and theologian, gives his views of Protestantism. Dr. Brown, author and professor of systematic theology at Union Theological Seminary, takes a Protestant look at Catholicism.

The approach of each is not limited to his critical appraisal of the other's faith. Both recognize shortcomings in views frequently taken by members of their own groups, and politely chide their followers for them.

"How are Catholics to react," asks Presbyterian Dr. Brown, "when they are pilloried on each charges as these: The church insists that everybody believe the same things (nobody can question the dogmas); the church has too many conflicting opinions (whom are we to believe about the regulation of church and state?)."

"The church is basically a political entity (American cardinals who vote for a Pope should be deprived of citizenship and forced to register as aliens); the church is not a political entity at all (therefore we should not send an ambassador to the Vatican)."

"Now I submit to my fellow Protestants," Dr. Brown writes, "that they cannot have it both ways."

On the other hand Catholics learn, from a respected priest, that contrary to what many of them think Protestants do not "feel free to believe anything they please."

They learn that Protestantism entails the belief, deserving of Catholic respect, that man can and does "encounter God immediately."

Father Weigel also notes "moments when the Catholic envies the Protestant's modernity," and points out that "in the Catholic Church there is always a suspicion of current time. Catholicism adjusts slowly to any given age."

"Facing Protestant - Roman Catholic Tensions" (Association Press) takes a somewhat different approach to the dialogue.

The book is a collection of writings by 13 Protestant and Catholic authorities who deal with specific issues as well as general subjects on which the two religious bodies are divided.

There are 133 doctors and 50 dentists for every 100,000 persons in the United States, the Public Health Service reports.

and the meeting will end Friday.

DOROTHY DIX Brother a Love Burglar — Husband a Softy

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:

My brother-in-law has come to me for advice. I'm not experienced in this field. Will you help me? He has been married 12 years. For the past two years his brother has been bonding with him and his wife. Gradually the wife has been turning toward the brother, looking after him, doing things with him; rather than with her husband. In the midst of arguments she has told her husband he could leave any time. He loves his wife so much his brother leave. This caused more trouble. His wife threatened to leave, his son started to cry because his father and mother were splitting up. Being the softy he is he got his brother back to keep peace.

I might add that the brother has a new car and drinks. The wife never drank until she started with him. Now he is talking about selling his farm and buying a flower shop for her. My brother-in-law is a hard-working man and gives her everything he can, but he hasn't got the money to buy new cars or flower shops. I hope you come up with some solution. —Sorry.

Dear Helen: On the face of it, your brother-in-law lacks the character to put his wife-smelching brother out and keep him out.

The very fact that he suddenly gave in and took him back is probably the reason why the wife fell for the other guy. I'm not saying she's right — but women like foolish men.

If your brother-in-law doesn't take charge mighty soon, he'll lose his wife for keeps. And while he's taking charge he might lay down the law regarding her responsibilities as a wife and mother.

Dear Helen:

I am in it and have been going steady with a girl for 10 months. We think a lot of each other and plan to get married when I finish school, but she fears I have a bad temper and am afraid if this goes on I will lose her. Tell me what I should do. —Worried. Don't. Worried. You certainly will lose your girl if you are jealous and over-possessive. Flirting is no crime. Be proud of having a girl pretty enough to attract other boys. You evidently lack belief in yourself, else you wouldn't be jealous. What is her dream-bait of a boy? Be that boy!

Dear Helen:

I am 18 and very much in love. The boy is two years my senior and thinks the world of me. He is in the Army, stationed in Germany. He plans to come home next summer and we want to be married.

I'm in college and need two more years to finish, but I have to choose between my boy friend and college. I'll take him. Every time I try to talk to Mother about it, she laughs. We have always been very close. Recently, when I wanted to try my wings, I told her she was trying to keep me on the ground.

My boy friend's mother approves of me. Though we have never met. We write back and forth. She seems like a wonderful woman. Every one thinks I'm too young to get married, but I can't think of life without my boy friend.

Is Mother right or am I? She thinks I won't finish school but my boy friend and I have decided that I will when we get back from Germany. Mother laughs (sarcastically) and says, "You just wait and see. You won't finish school." I could cry when she says this way but I never do. Help me if you can. —RN.

Dear R. N.: The odds are 10 to 1 that you won't finish school if you marry and go to Germany. Now about the money and hopes your family invested in you when they paid for this college education. Do you intend to walk out on your obligation to them?

I hope not. Complete what you started—that college course, before you take on the responsibilities of married life. You'll be a lot better equipped to face them. Don't borrow trouble. Plenty can happen between now and next summer. Meanwhile, stick to your studies.

90 Counters Opened to All in the South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers said today that Justice Department mediation had opened chain store lunch counters to Negroes in 90 Southern and border state cities since June 1.

Rogers issued a 3,000-word review of Republican administration civil rights actions in a report ranged from proposed legislation through litigation to the mediation method.

He announced on Aug. 10, after scores of lunch counter "sit-ins" in Southern cities, that he had been calling in executives of variety chains to enlist their help in ending the demonstrations.

He said then that store managements, "in conjunction with local authorities and other interested groups," had quietly brought about desegregation of lunch

Kennedy and Nixon Clash Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy clash again tonight — a continent apart — in their third television debate on presidential campaign issues.

The split-screen, hour-long transcontinental show, starting at 6:30 P. M. (Eastern Standard Time) will find the GOP standard bearer, Nixon, in an American Broadcasting Co. Hollywood studio and the Democratic aspirant, Kennedy, in an ABC studio in New York City.

On TV, the program will be shown at later hours in more distant time zones. However, radio station networks all will carry the debate at the same time.

The candidates will appear in identical TV studio settings. A combination podium and desk will allow each man to stand or sit as he chooses. Studio lighting will be duplicated at each end of the network, and both candidates have been asked to wear the same shade of attire.

ABC, assigning more than 20 technicians to the program, calls it the most complicated telecast in TV history.

In the two previous debates the candidates have faced each other in the same studio. The first was handled by CBS from Chicago, the second by NBC in Washington.

Campaign tours prevent them from debating face-to-face this time.

The moderator will be ABC news commentator Bill Shadel. Members of the panel will be Roscoe Drummond, New York Herald Tribune; Douglas S. Cator, "Reporter" magazine; Charles Van Fremd, Washington correspondent for CBS news; and Frank McGee, NBC news correspondent. Shadel and the panelists will be in the West Coast studio.

The last of the four debates is set for Oct. 21.

But the three networks have offered TV time for a fifth debate the week before the November 8 election.

Kennedy and Nixon have not as yet agreed on this proposal.

WPXI-TV, New York, and WGN-TV, Chicago, on Wednesday offered free time for a face-to-face debate between the vice-presidential candidates, Democrat Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson and Republican Henry Cabot Lodge.

The stations suggested the pair meet in New York Oct. 19, or in Chicago about Oct. 22, adding that the one-hour program would be made available to other TV stations wishing to carry it.

Bride Has Objected

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — A bridegroom of less than a month says he's going to trade his motor cycle in on a car.

James M. Blount, 24, took his bride, 46, for a spin Tuesday night. She toppled off when the motorcycle hit a bump and Blount was two miles down the road before he missed her.

Mrs. Blount was treated at a hospital for cuts and bruises but was well enough to ride home on the motorcycle.

counters in 69 communities. The same program has been carried out in 21 additional communities, he reported today, bringing the total to 90.

Rogers said that the entire 1957 civil rights act was conceived and drafted by his department and that, "with minor exceptions," the same was true of the 1960 act.

TELEPHONE TALK

Fred D. Gray, Wire Chief, Hope, Arkansas

HUNTING TIME AGAIN

Again it's hunting season and many like us here at the Telephone Company look forward to it each year. But to Telephone People some of the pleasure of the hunting season is taken away by the careless and thoughtless, who shoot at birds sitting on telephone poles, insulators, wires or cables. Then, there are some who will shoot at telephone insulators, wire etc. when there aren't any birds on them. We have hundreds of wires broken each year from gun shots. This not only causes extra work for the telephone man, but interrupts a customer's call or his service. Let's all enjoy the hunting seasons, be safe, and remember to watch where we are shooting.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

Imagine yourself in this situation. You're driving on a long trip with your family. A storm is coming up, fast. It's getting hard to see, because it's about dark and the storm is blowing up dust. Then you see a small plane, circling around, looking desperately for a place to land. What would you do?

This was the situation facing T. O. Gravitt, a supervisor for Southwestern Bell, according to a story I heard the other day. Gravitt has done some flying himself, so he understood what a fix the pilot was in.

Luckily, Gravitt knew there was an emergency landing field nearby.

There were no lights on the landing strip, so Gravitt rounded up other motorists who were watching the plane and led them to the field. He told them how to park along the edges so there headlights would guide the pilot.

Helped by the lights, the pilot set his plane down — just as the storm hit.

Needless to say, there's one airplane pilot alive today who is thankful that telephone man Gravitt saw his problem and knew what to do about it.

WORKS BOTH WAYS

Here lately we've been urged to drive carefully, because school is back in session. That's good advice, but did you ever stop to think that late each spring the safety experts always tell drivers to be careful because the kids are out of school?

There just isn't any "open season."

Let's keep that in mind, and take it easy when we're behind the wheel — now, and all year long.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Tokay Orange Cream

"Tokay Orange Cream" is a perfect dessert to serve after a bountiful autumn dinner. A tangy orange-flavored Bavarian cream holds crisp, flame Tokay grape halves, surrounded by a circle of lady fingers. This Tokay grape and gelatin cream dessert, easy to make and very handsome, will appeal to little children as well as adults.

Dissolve 1/4 cup sugar and 1 (3-ounce) package lemon-flavored gelatin in 1 cup boiling water. Add grated rind 1 orange, 3/4 cup orange juice and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Cool until slightly thickened. Meanwhile, halve and seed 1 1/2 cups Tokay grapes. When gelatin is thickened, whip with rotary beater until light and fluffy. Whip 1 cup whipping cream and fold into gelatin mixture. Reserve a few grapes for garnish; fold remainder into gelatin mixture. Arrange 3 or 4 lady fingers around sides of each dessert dish, and fill dish with gelatin mixture. Sprinkle remaining Tokays on top. Chill until firm. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

How Much Balance Does Nikita Have?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Khrushchev's actions—by all the orderly standards of the United Nations—have been abnormal. It seems fair now to ask: How much balance does he have?

For 22 days in this country, instead of appealing to reason and fairness, Khrushchev has tried repeatedly to obtain what he wants by threats. Whether or not his fits of anger are real or for effect, his purpose has been to intimidate.

One after another his proposals have been frustrated. Each frustration seems to have driven him to a new excess.

He could have presented his ideas in one well-arranged package. Instead, he seems to have improved, thinking up new extremes as he went along.

If he follows through on some of his threats, then his main accomplishment in visiting the United Nations has been to wreck it.

He said he wanted disarmament. But he also said he wanted Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld thrown out and replaced by a three-man secretariat, one representing communism, one the West, and one the neutrals.

Then he coupled disarmament with Hammarskjöld. Khrushchev said that if he didn't get the three-man secretariat, then there could be no disarmament.

Even the dullest U. N. delegate could see what Khrushchev wanted: "was not really a three-man, balanced secretariat but a hunting license."

If Russia tried an adventure anywhere in the world and the three secretaries sat down to discuss action to stop it, the secretary representing communism could prevent with a veto anything the other two secretaries wanted to do.

As time passed and Khrushchev saw he was making no progress on this, he went much further than just saying there could be no disarmament unless he got his three-man secretariat.

He said that unless he got it—even though every other nation voted against him—"we shall uphold our interests outside this international body, outside the U.N., by relying on our own strength."

What are Russia's "interests"? They could be anything Khrushchev wanted them to be. This threat, if carried out, will in effect wreck the United Nations, leaving it a kind of shadow organization.

It is not only his continuing threats but also his seeming obsession with the idea of war, destruction and death which seems peculiarly abnormal. He never stops talking about it, linking it obliquely with his threats.

He has lost at every turn, on everything he wanted at the United Nations. Now the world has to wait to see whether he makes good on his threats.

year, military sources reported today. The government had planned to make the reduction next year but decided to speed it up to save money.

Chickens Are Always Good Food Buys

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frying chickens, normally a supermarket special in the summertime, are featured by many food markets this week as parts of the nation bask in Indian summer weather.

Fryers and broilers are featured at stores in New England, the New York metropolitan area and the Middle West. The decision to feature chickens likely stemmed from supplies running about five per cent over a year ago.

Leg of lamb also is a popular favorite this week with specials spread from New England through the Middle West to the Far West. Boneless chuck pot roast and smoked pork shoulder also are pushed in some areas, while veal also makes an infrequent appearance on the special list.

Egg prices continue to climb 2 to 4 cents a dozen in some areas, although reductions are reported in the Middle West. Extremely low prices last year led many farmers to kill off some birds which might have helped increase supplies this year.

Housewives can partially offset the egg situation by taking advantage of specials on cheese in line with the U.S. Department of Agriculture's October cheese festival.

Best buys among vegetables this week are cabbage, cauliflower, carrots, celery from nearby growing areas, lettuce, spinach, rutabagas, parsnips, medium yellow onions and potatoes. Good buys include broccoli, brussels sprouts, Western celery, cucumbers, eggplant, endive, escarole, parsley, squash, peppers, mushrooms and sweet potatoes.

Priority for Arkansas Post Park

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interior Department notified Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., today that in preparing its park budget for the coming fiscal year it will give the needs of Arkansas Post National Memorial in southeastern Arkansas a high priority.

Arkansas Post National Memorial was established under a bill passed by Congress this year and signed by the President. It is to include the existing Arkansas Post State Park and some additional acreage.

The bill authorized an appropriation to purchase land and get the park launched.

Fulbright had asked the department to budget funds for the memorial for the year starting next July 1.

The memorial is in the vicinity of a trading post, set up by the French explorer de Tonti, the first white settlement in the area.

Asst. Secretary of the Interior George W. Abbott wrote Fulbright that "as it is almost certain that some lands will be transferred to the federal government in the not too distant future, we can assure you that funds for developing and administering Arkansas Post will have high priority when the budget estimates are being prepared for the 1962 fiscal year."

Korea to Cut Army
SEOUL (AP)—The South Korean Defense Ministry has decided to cut 30,000 men from its 600,000-man army by the end of this on artichokes, just starting up, and green peas, which are becoming scarce.

McIntosh and Cortland apples, tokay grapes and small California oranges top the best buy list among fruits.

Rates Year of the Polaris Tops on TV

By FRED DANZIG

United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — When it comes to underwater excitement on TV, forget about "Aquanuts" and "Sea Hunt."

It'll take the one-hour special titled "The Year of the Polaris," which served to launch the 1960-61 season for the "CBS Reports," series in a smooth, interesting, intensely dramatic, human and inspiring fashion.

Polaris, of course, is the name of that ball-point intermediate range ballistic missile that rides underwater in a nuclear submarine and has rewritten the defense manuals. The missile's first stage, so to speak, is the submarine, which is a portable launching pad capable of firing 16 Polaris missiles at targets from 600 underwater locations.

With Edward R. Murrow as the reporter-narrator, the film showed how the nuclear warhead deterrent came into being after a number of false starts, heart-breaking disappointments and determined efforts to conquer every obstacle, be it man-made or natural.

There were film clips of the by early experiments in large door tanks, on dry land, in waters off the California, Florida and New York coasts and, finally, of the historic success of July 20, 1960, when two Polaris missiles were launched off Cape Canaveral from the nuclear sub George Washington.

I got a charge out of an interview with a civil service employee, Gordon Pearson, who managed the project. His team was lean and hard and he offered quite a formula for getting things done in government: "We learned," he said, "that we can get more work out of one man who is overworked than out of two men who are underworked. The two men get in each other's way."

It takes a heap o' courage for a male dancer to go on TV with his own show within two weeks of the last Fred Astaire special.

So I admire Donald O'Connor's courage as well as his talents. He waded — literally — right in with an NBC-TV special Tuesday night. While the hour had some patches of brightness, touches of humor and swinging arrangements, it by means can stand alongside the Astaire special. I won't belabor the comparison.

The basic trouble in O'Connor's show was the pacing. The hand-somely mounted dance numbers were too weighty, involved and long. Whether dancing solo or with his pretty guest, Mitzl Gaylor, O'Connor never quit when he was ahead. He went on until the numbers lost their snap.

Andre Previn's deliberate, fuzzy-to-funky piano sounds, were fine, but too often were submerged by the orchestra. As for humor, O'Connor and his sidekick, Sidney Miller, ran through their famous imitations of show biz stars. The act lacked its usual freshness.

Barrymore Before Court in Italy

ROME (AP) — John Barrymore Jr., 28, bearded as his father's famous profile never was, came to court today on charges of insulting a police officer, brawling, and trying to cause a jail break.

His beard was the cause of it all—a flamboyant, blazing brown growth that the actor cultivated for a film role as Italy's be-whiskered patriot, Giuseppe Garibaldi.

Barrymore added to the startling quality of his beard a luxuriant growth of curly, bleached blond hair that flowed across his head and over the back of his collar.

Contrary to prison rules, beard and hair were intact today when Barrymore was brought to court from Queen of Heaven jail on the banks of the Tiber. The actor has been there since Friday because the Italian penal code has no provision for bail.

With Barrymore came Italian starlet Gabriella Palazzoli, 23, his latest fiancée; her father and two brothers; and three Italian youths—all involved in the brawling that resulted in their arrest last Friday.

Barrymore and his fiancée were parked in his car Friday. Youths in another car halted and taunted Barrymore about his beard. A fight began and tied up traffic. Gabriella's two brothers took part. Police grabbed all of them, except Barrymore and Gabriella.

Barrymore, his fiancée and her father went to the police station where the brothers were held. Another quarrel developed with police and Barrymore suddenly ran to the cells in an apparent effort to release the brothers.

At that point, police arrested Barrymore, Gabriella and her father.

Thinks TV Perhaps Can Be Cured

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-RADIO WRITER

NEW YORK (AP) — After an evening like Tuesday night, it is obvious that there is nothing the matter with television that imagination, thought and hard work can't cure.

First there was the season's first "CBS Reports," a fascinating suspense story with a happy ending. It was a documentary about the long, extensive development of the Navy's Polaris missile, invented expressly to be fired by a submerged atom-powered submarine.

CBS has had its camera lens on both the submarine George Washington and — whenever security permitted — the missile for almost five years. Thus, the program (narrated by Edward R. Murrow with great simplicity) was both absorbing and instructive. It was reassuring and heartening, too, to learn about a weapon with such a war-deterrent potential.

About an hour later, NBC gave us the "Donald O'Connor Show," a gay program of pure entertainment—great dancing, pleasant songs, good humor and handsome backgrounds. O'Connor, who turns up on TV as rarely as Fred Astaire, is a man of many talents and the greatest of these is dancing.

Milti Gaynor, his pretty costar, contributed her dancing and singing abilities and it was all delightful.

And in between, if one was twisting the dial selectively, there was a very good mystery episode on "Thriller," on NBC.

That familiar "TV interview format"—questions by a panel and answers by the guest—seems to have been chosen unanimously as the politicians' favorite means of getting their messages across. From the viewers' location in front of the TV set, however, it is a more satisfactory session when there is just one man answering the questions.

In the joint Nixon-Kennedy appearances, the business of limiting the time for both the answer to a question and the rebuttal period of his opponent leaves many questions up in the air when the questioners move on to another area.

CBS will pre-empt the time of its Sunday "Face the Nation" for an hour's special showing of the 1961 models of American automobiles. NBC's "Meet the Press," at the same time—6 p.m., EDT—will interview Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy. The overnight ratings on those two shows will make interesting reading.

Rocket Failure Is Reported

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)

—The first rocket in a more powerful Atlas series has failed, but the Air Force says it believes it has pinpointed the trouble.

The maiden flight of the new Atlas "D" model fizzled less than three minutes after launch Tuesday when one of three large engines shut down prematurely.

The three motors generated a total of 300,000 pounds of thrust on liftoff, making this the most powerful set of U.S. rocket engines ever flown. The present operational "D" series Atlas builds up 300,000 pounds.

The "D" is designed for quicker retaliation, longer range and heavier nuclear warhead capability than the "D" missile.

There were 1,224 railroads operating in the United States at the turn of the century. Now there are about 410.

Russia Seems to Have Lost and Not Won

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign Editor

On paper, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may seem to have lost more than he won during his United Nations stay. But the paper losses may be short-term only, still capable of being turned into Communist victories.

Khrushchev failed to win a U.N. seat for Red China.

Win anywhere near majority approval of his plan to reorganize the office of the secretary-general into a Communist-weighted three-man presidium.

Or to obtain the resignation of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

Turn the U.N. General Assembly into a world summit meeting on disarmament. Before he made his big pitch for disarmament, most world leaders already had gone back home.

Attracts World Leaders But he did.

By his own initiative draw more world leaders than ever before assembled under a single roof.

Establish himself as a relaxed leader who could slay away from home as long as he wished, meanwhile reaping a propaganda harvest.

For his own words, "plant seeds" for the future.

As for his failures, many observers at the United Nations believed that this would be one of the last years the United States and its allies successfully could prevent the entry of Red China as a full-fledged U.N. member.

More important than those who voted for or against Red China this year were the 22 nations which abstained. They included nearly all of the newly-independent African nations. A switch by less than half of these in next year's voting would do the trick.

As for reorganizing the U.N. to turn it into an arm of the Kremlin, it is probable that here Khrushchev employed a time-honored Communist stratagem. He asked for more than he expected, and any compromise would be a Communist gain.

"Seed" Is Planted While such prominent leaders as Prime Minister Nehru of India oppose any plan which would paralyze the office of the secretary-general, nevertheless the "seed" has been planted. The Afro-Asian group is dissatisfied with its present U.N. representation, particularly in the Security Council, and may be expected to press for some sort of U.N. reorganization.

It is probable that Khrushchev will have to hear with Hammarskjold until the latter's term runs.

Fluffy, Flavorful Peach Pie

The filling of "Fluffy Peach Pie" is light as a feather. It's easy on both grocery and calorie budgets, for in spite of its creamy smoothness, it has no whipping cream. Golden canned cling peach slices flavor the Bavarian cream type of filling.

To make this delicious dessert, prepare a graham cracker crust and chill. Chill 1/2 cup evaporated milk thoroughly. Sift 1/2 cup sugar from canned cling peaches with 1/2 cup sugar and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Dissolve gelatin in hot syrup. Stir in 1 lightly beaten egg yolk. Cool until mixture thickens slightly. Beat 1 egg white stiff and gradually beat in an additional 1/4 cup sugar. Whip 1/2 cup chilled evaporated milk in chilled bowl until light and fluffy. Fold egg white into gelatin mixture, then whipped milk. Blend in a drop or two of almond extract, and fold in 1 1/2 cups drained canned cling peach slices (save a few to garnish top of pie, if you wish). Turn gelatin mixture into graham cracker crust and chill until firm. Top pie with peach slices and roasted almond slivers if desired. Make 9-inch pie.

Truman in Defense of Kennedy

By DAVE CHEAVENS
WACO, Tex. (AP) —

Former President Harry S. Truman Tuesday night delivered what the Democrats say they hope will be the knockout punch against attacks on presidential candidate John F. Kennedy's Roman Catholic religion.

In an unusually serious mood, Truman told a crowd that gave approval 24 times with applause that "innuendoes and downright lies" are being used to arouse religious prejudice. "I say to you this is un-American. It makes me sick and it makes me want to fight and that is what I am doing," Truman said.

Truman, on stage with House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Sen. Ralph Yarborough, both Texas Democrats, devoted more than half his 30-minute speech to the question of religion.

The setting was in a central Texas area heavily populated by Baptists, like Truman, Rayburn and Yarborough.

Many Baptist ministers and other clergymen have openly questioned Kennedy's qualification to serve as president in view of his Catholic religion.

"I think that Jack Kennedy has responded very well to the attacks on his religion," Truman said. "He has answered all reasonable questions with patience and with dignity as a candor."

Asking the audience, estimated by local Kennedy-Johnson leaders at 5,000, to "listen carefully," he read the part of Article VI of the Constitution which declares that no religious test shall be required as a qualification to any office of public trust.

Here's One Star Not in the Campaign

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Among the movie stars who are not campaigning for a favorite candidate this autumn is a girl named Debbie Reynolds.

It's not because she isn't asked. "My phone is ringing all the time," she said. "Friends call me up from both sides to appear for this candidate or just lend my name for that candidate. I tell them, 'Ask me to do a benefit, politics—no.'"

She explained her reasoning: "I don't object to campaigning by stars. It's fine for those who want to do it. But it's not for me. I have my own feelings about the election; I'll express them on Election Day."

"After all, we have so little privacy in this business. I like to hold onto what privacy I can." This year, Debbie has managed to achieve a degree of private life after a couple of years in the goldfish bowl. As the hypotenuse in the Debbie-Eddie-Liz triangle, she lived under public scrutiny. But 1960 has been different.

"I've hardly worked at all," she said. "I've done half a picture—'The Pleasure of His Company,' which was interrupted by the strike and which we'll go back and finish next month. I've done my TV show. The rest of the time I've been with the children. I've been three months at the beach and I've loved it."

The only intrusion in her placid life has been the fan magazines. She is a hot item with the flicker mags, most of them requiring a Debbie article monthly. Some of them wax quite fanciful. Shoo-tycoon Harry Karl appears to be the man for Debbie, at least on her current social calendar.

Royal Visitor Discusses Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and King Frederik of Denmark today discussed North Atlantic Treaty Organization matters and other international problems at an hour-long conference.

The king provided no detail regarding the discussion as he left the White House. But Denmark's Foreign Minister Jens Otto Krag told newsmen that the conference dealt in part with NATO problems.

Thomas Lynch Jr. of South Carolina was only 26 years old when he signed the Declaration of Independence.

out in 1963. Then will come the big Soviet push and a moment of decision for the United States.

Meantime, the United States and its allies must decide whether reorganization of the United Nations is inevitable and come up with a plan of its own or elect to fight it out on the basis of the Khrushchev demands.

As for disarmament, the big powers themselves eventually must decide. But Khrushchev's demand for immediate destruction of arms draws strong support from small nations who believe money spent on guns much better could be spent on their own development.
